

Iron Bridge University:

"Where the learning and the drinking never stop."

--- The Legendary Steve Wecker

One of the world's great seats of higher education, Iron Bridge University, opens its hallowed halls to those who thirst for a new level of learning. Long these ivy covered walls have stood, their gleaming bottles beckoning, their corkscrews at the ready. "Vini, Vidi, Vino...I came, I saw, I drank the wine." Was it Plato or Socrates who first uttered the words, "Wow, that Cabernet is bangin'!" Now, these great wine drinkers are a gift to the ages. Who amongst you will be the next great orator, the next great student of the grape? Only time will tell.

Here at Iron Bridge University, the learning and the drinking never stop. Our faculty has been spending countless hours drinking, pouring, and drinking again, in their quest for the insight that the student body desires. The bottles are empty, the glasses sit ready, the only thing that remains are the classes.

Knowledge is good, knowledge with wine is even better!

Join our resident "Italian Wine Guy" Vince as he begins a wine course designed to help guide your journey through the world of wine. Whether you are new to wine or an old pro, there is sure to be fun had by all. Plus stick around you just might learn something!
